AMD Honors Schrock Innovations with Membership

AMD Solution Provider Program honors top AMD integrators

Lincoln, NE – June 17, 2005: Schrock Innovations was honored by AMD with a membership to the company's Solution Provider Program. Membership is reviewed on an annual basis and is restricted to OEM resellers who meet certain criteria.

John Morris, Director of AMD's North American Regional Marketing said, "Membership in the AMD Solution Provider Program is reserved for AMD partners who consistently promote strategic products in alignment with the AMD brand strategy."

This is the first year that Schrock Innovations has qualified for AMD's top honor. Companies were judged based on the number of AMD processors sold and the commitment to educating the general public about the general advantages of an AMD based computer.

"There is no doubt that our weekly radio program and our website helped us earn this honor," Thor Schrock, Owner of Schrock Innovations said.
